there been as many mad dogs running at large in the country as there are this season. Hydrophobia is raging to an alarming extent, and the people can not be too careful in guarding themselves, their fam-ilies and live stock, against the danger there is in being attacked and bitten by dogs and other animals which are or may be suffering with this most terrible of deadly diseases. We have conversed with a number of the best skilled physicians in the County, and they generally agree in the belief that there is no positive cure for a person, after once having been bitten by any animal affected with hy-drophobia, and that they are liable to be attacked by a paroxysm at any time during life, the pain of which death only can relieve. Benjamin Smith, a farmer, who lives a few miles north-west of Leona, owned a common cur dog, which had never shown any signs of distemper, or ill disposition; but on the other hand, had always been quiet and good natured. A few days ago, this dog went mad, and soon after had bitten twenty-three head of bogs, owned by Mr. Smith, and one horse belonging to Mr. Obediah Jor-dan, living in the edge of Brown County. The dog was killed, and the bogs and horse went mad, and were also killed. Dogs and stock are going mad in all parts of the country; and, under these circum stances, it is not safe for people to travel on the pul lie bighways, without some means of protection. number of the towns in the County have ordinances by which the City Marshal of each town is author ized to kill all strange dogs that come inside the city limits; and all persons who are residents of the town, are required to pay taxes on their dogs. A collar is to be put on each dog, certifying that the
